Discover

Cave Creek Museum

Museum exhibits provide an overview of the history of the Desert Foothills. Displays explore mining, ranching, dude ranching, archaeology, geology, and fine art that contribute to the area's long and rich history.

The Salt River Pima Maricopa Indian Community display is an example of the collaborative effort of staff of the Huhugam Ki Museum and our volunteers. The Community's culture is depicted by examples of traditional structures and clothing, food harvesting and preparation, pottery and basket making.

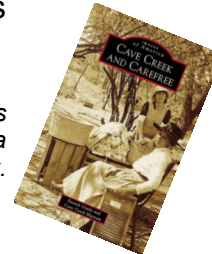

Such permanent exhibits are but one aspect of the Museum.

Each year, new exhibits are designed and constructed that showcase photography, painting, and sculpture, as well as historic and prehistoric collections unique to the area.

★★★ Education

Exciting and enriching lectures, classes, trips and workshops are offered to adults and children. Meet celebrated artists and authors throughout the year and be part of many activities including home tours, Antique Appraisal Days and various hikes throughout the Desert Foothills.

Museum volunteers researched and wrote a local history book.

★★★ Mining History

One of the Museum's most popular attractions is the fully restored 10-stamp ore crushing mill that was used on the Golden Reef Mine around the turn of the 20th century. Four years in the refurbishing, it is a fully functional stamp mill. As a member, you can learn to operate this colossal piece of history and join the rest of the team as they run the mill on designated weekends.

Supplementing our rich mining history is a representative example of a local horizontal shaft mine, and an authentic assay office.

★★★ You May Decide to Donate Your Time

The Museum has many volunteer opportunities available throughout the year. These include developing and organizing galleries, documenting and categorizing collections, research, and maintaining the reference library. Becoming a specially trained docent is an exciting way to meet and exchange knowledge with people from around the globe.

★★★ Gift Memberships

Looking for a unique gift? Share your excitement with friends and family by giving a membership to celebrate that special occasion.

Discovery programs for children and adults focus on desert wildlife, plants, history and archaeology. Always a favorite with families, cowboy Gary, with his horse Dusty, tells tales and sings songs during the holidays.

The Museum's Tubercular Cabin housed people suffering with lung ailments. The building is on the National Registry of Historic Places.
